Harry Mole, knowing the shortcut through the plains, soon caught up with Lance and his friends. 'Harry Mole! What are you doing here?! You've already sent the butterfly to guide us! And where are we going anyway?' Lance said. Harry Mole replied 'Now there's no point of me tellin' lies anymore. Long time ago, me and my fellow scientists invented ^{these} smart robots, and Bash ^{was} the most successful one. ~~Unfortunately~~ Lance, for safety your parents made a machine ^{which} can shut down all robots. They hid ^{the} machine in another dimension ~~causing~~ causing the robots fail to find it. The purple black hole kinda thing which brings us here is a portal through the two dimensions. Now and come on, we have to look for the machine before Bash finds us. Oh one more thing Lance, this butterfly is not my creation (I lied about that), its your parents. It will lead us to where the machine is.' 'Where... Where are my parents now?' asked Lance. 'They... they passed away.'

Lance seemed a little down, but did not show too much pain. They soon continued the journey. After a long walk, they found the machine. At the very moment, Bash ^{caught up} ~~appeared~~. Bash tried ^{to attack} attacking the humans but the machine easily destroyed it. They took the machine back ~~and~~, destroyed all robots, and brought freedom back to the ^{people}.

In the end, humans again ruled the world. The story of Lance and his friends saving the world passed on for many years. ~~Earth remained peaceful and happy for a long time!~~ Humans then ^{so} rebuilt their lost homes, and then on refused to use high technology

Until aliens visited the earth.

Earth became healthy and green like before. Since then, earth remained peaceful and happy for a long time. Wars and battles were nowhere to be seen.

Until aliens visited ^{the} earth.

The end
